SHOWERS MAY END DROUGHT
OVER SUNDAYFarmers Look Westward for a Break in Dry Spell

Chicago, May 11 —(AP)—Farmers who have stood helpless as a blazing sun seared away their crops turned hopefully to the Rocky Mountains today for relief.

A low pressure area over the far western region was reported working its way slowly toward the east, bringing life-giving showers to the parched prairies of the grain states.

"The indications," said a Weather Bureau report, "are fairly good for at least local showers in the central and western parts of the north central states Saturday or Saturday night, and in the eastern part Saturday night or Sunday."

The black blizzards of dust from the vast plains of western Canada had spent their force, sweeping to sea on the eastern seaboard, dropping tons of fertile farm soil enroute, while the drought continued to swell the crop damage.

So serious did officials of the Department of Agriculture at Washington regard the situation they frankly said that the long dry spell had reduced their May 1 crop estimate of winter wheat by 19,500,000 bushels.

No ground for fears that a famine might result from the long drought and acreage reduction was seen by George E. Farrell, chief of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration's wheat section. He told officials of the University of Illinois there was no prospect of a wheat shortage the next year.

Reports continued to come in, however, telling of the widespread havoc by the lack of rainfall. At St. Paul, Minn., Prof. Andrew Boss, director of the farm production control program in that state, said that the crops had gone back much more rapidly in the past ten days than in April.

Farmers in Nebraska asked to be permitted to abandon their wheat crops, which had been pledged to the government under contract, and to plant corn. They said their situation was "desperate."

UNCLE SAM TO AID
Washington, May 12 —(AP)—The government rushed to the rescue today of drought-stricken farmers harassed by weather conditions unprecedented for forty springs past.

The administration prepared to hit along three lines. The Federal Relief Agency surveyed the situation with an eye to pouring in food and funds if needed. The Farm Administration simultaneously reshaped its plans to meet conditions.

The third prong in the program as reported today by the administration is a long-time national plan for evening up the supply between good and bad years so as to prevent any possible future food shortage.

President Roosevelt and his cabinet spent considerable time yesterday examining information on the drought area gathered by Secretary Wallace. The President was understood to have called for further reports.

CITY PETITION
TO CUT WATER
RATES DENIEDI.C.C. Holds Hydrant
Rental Charged Dixon is Reasonable

The Illinois Commerce Commission has denied the petition of the city of Dixon seeking to reduce the hydrant rental rate charged by the Dixon Water Company. At the hearings which were conducted in Chicago before the commission City Attorney Martin J. Gannon represented the city's interests while attorneys H. C. Warner and John P. Devine appeared for the Water Company.

The petition seeking the reduction of hydrant rental charged the city was filed with the Commission August 1, 1933. The water company filed an answer on December 12, 1933 in the form of a cross petition in which it was proposed to increase the rates to private consumers in the event that the city rate was to be lowered. The commission held that the rate charged the city of Dixon was a fair one and denied the original petition filed by the city.

The commission's report of the hearings places the cost of the Dixon Water Company plant, not including going values, materials, supplies and working capital at a valuation of $560,665.00 on October 1, 1933.

The findings of the commission states that an average and reasonable hydrant rental rate for the city of Dixon for 255 hydrants at $45 per hydrant, is not excessive, considering the fact that water is supplied for sewer flushers, drinking fountains, the street flusher and free service at the city hall, which reduces the cost per hydrant to $37 per year.

the Seven Singles Matches Today

St. Andrew's Scotland, May 12 —(AP)—The United States successfully defended the Walker Cup, international golf trophy, by trouncing their British challengers today in the singles competition after capturing three of the four four-somes yesterday.

The Americans quickly clinched their eighth successive triumph in the team battle by piling up lopsided margins in the first four singles.

They were paced by Johnny Goodman of Omaha, national open titleholder, who rallied to trounce the Hon. Michael Scott, British amateur champion, 7 and 6, and W. Plaidon Little of San Francisco, victor over Burly Cyril Tolley, by 6 and 5.

The sixth and seventh victories for the Americans, in two days of play, settling the issue, were tallied by Captain Francis Ouimet of Boston and George T. Dunlap, Jr. of New York, the amateur champion, Ouimet disposed of Leonard Crawley, 5 and 4, while Dunlap took the measure of Jack McLean in a sensational match, 4 and 3.

Five In a Row
Johnny Fischer, slim Cincinnati star, made it five in a row for the Americans by overcoming Eric Fiddian, 5 and 4.

T. A. (Tony) Torrance, veteran British internationalist, halted the rout by defeating Max Marston of Philadelphia for England's first victory of the day. Torrance won, 4 and 3, with a rally that ended their hard-fought encounter.

Gus Moreland of Dallas gave the United States its sixth victory in the singles by downing Sam McKinnay, 3 and 1.

The eighth and final match of the series ended all square between Jack Westland of Chicago and Eric McGeevie, young Scotch star.

This made the final score, on points, 9½ to 2½ in favor of the Americans.

SAMUEL INSULL
GOES FROM JAIL
TO A HOSPITALHe Will Spend Several Days in Seclusion to Obtain Rest

BULLETIN
Chicago, May 12 —(AP)—The Insull brothers—one brought back from Canada, the other from Europe and Asia Minor—met today in Chicago after two years of separation.

A caller appeared at the desk of St. Luke's hospital and said he wished to visit Samuel Insull. A clerk said "no visitors are allowed."

The caller explained: "I'm his brother Martin."

The reunion went unobserved. It was the first time Martin Insull, younger and taller than Samuel, and fond of living in the style of an English country gentleman, had come to meet his more famous brother. He did not visit him in Cook county jail, keeping to his rural retreat at Morocco, Ind., where he has been living with his daughter and son-in-law.

The Insull brothers last saw each other in 1932, before the elder took ship for Paris and the younger fled to Orillia, Ont.

Chicago, May 12 —(AP)—Samuel Insull enjoyed a quarter million dollars' worth of liberty today—in a hospital.

The former head of a two billion dollar utility empire was in seclusion at St. Luke's hospital for a few days rest and medical attention after having won his release from the Cook county jail where he mooched cigars and had 13-year-old George Rogalski, an alleged kidnaper, for his nearest neighbor.

"Well, boys, good luck to you all," he called jovially to his fellow prisoners as he left the jail hospital yesterday when his friends put up $250,000 to insure his presence in federal court on charges of using the mails to defraud and violation of the bankruptcy law, and in the state criminal court, where embezzlement is alleged.

Occupied Whole Day
It took almost the entire day to wind up the court activities which began with a defiance by the defendant of the jurisdiction of the federal court. He refused to plead guilty or not guilty and planned to contest the legality of his arrest again next Tuesday, when his lawyer will argue he was not extradited, but was "shanghaied" from Turkey.

The federal bond having been supplied, the former financier gained his release on the state charge and went immediately in a taxicab to a small room four stories above Michigan Avenue, he appeared to be once more his former self—a sharp contrast with his dejected attitude of last Tuesday when he lost his first round in the fight to make bail. Before entering he took out time to chat a bit about his sojourn in Greece.

"I'd like to go into business there some day," he said.

ATTORNEY FOR RICH OIL MAN IS CONFIDENTBelieves Gettle Has Not Been Injured:
Child Unreported

Los Angeles, May 12 —(AP)—Confidence that William F. Gettle, kidnaped millionaire, was still alive was expressed today by Ernest E. Noon attorney for the family who is acting as intermediary.

The attorney also said an agreement had been reached with the investigating officers to call off the manhunt if the kidnapers until Monday noon.

Noon said that he had received numerous telephone calls, since the kidnaping at the Arcadia country estate last Wednesday midnight, when the 47-year-old man was seized by two masked gunmen as a climax to a party given by Gettle in celebration of the completion of improvements to his new country estate.

Reasons Unrevealed
The reasons for this assurance that Gettle had not been harmed were not divulged by Noon. He did say, however, that he had no knowledge that a friend of the millionaire had received a letter in Gettle's handwriting since the kidnaping, urging that the demand of the kidnapers be met.

Confused by four telephone calls and a letter dealing with the ransom payment, Noon expressed confidence the kidnapers would soon come forward with definite plans for delivery of the money.

The first telephone call set the ransom at $75,000, but no indication was given how contact was to be made.

The second and third telephone calls were made while Noon was absent from his office, the caller stating the attorney should insert a personal advertisement in a Los Angeles newspaper if he wished to get in touch with him.

The letter, unsigned, was delivered by mail at the Arcadia estate of Gettle. The letter informed Mrs. Gettle to have $40,000 in cash ready and said instruction would be sent as to how the money was to be paid.

The fourth telephone message, received by Noon late last night, said the kidnapers had decided on $40,000 as the ransom.

Authorities said they were inclined to believe the telephone calls received by Noon were from criminals.

Noon, however, said he hoped the kidnapers would get in touch with him quickly. He said he had the cash ready and was willing to pay.

Probability that Gettle was kidnaped by "a very dangerous mob of professional criminals" was expressed by authorities today.

They said identity of these suspected men is known, and efforts are being made to trace their recent movements.

CHILD UNREPORTED
Tucson, Ariz., May 12 —(AP)—Authorities, the family and the public watched and waited today for some indication the abductors of James Robles, six-year-old heiress, were moving toward her release.

By request of the Robles family, authorities remained out of the case, leaving Fernando Robles, father of the victim to bargain for her release unassisted.

There was nothing early today to indicate he had made any contact with the kidnapers, who seized June as she returned home from school here April 25.

Although an original ransom note demanded $15,000 as the price of June's safe return, Robles announced Wednesday he had been able to raise but $10,000, which, however, was awaiting call of the captors.

Because those who furnished the money had demanded release of the girl when the money was paid, Robles indicated he had not been able to contact the abductors, supposedly because they laid down different plans for freeing the child.

GREAT BRITAIN
FIRST TO HEAR
OF NEW POLICYJohnson Law Makes it Necessary to Prohibit Markets

London, May 12 —(AP)—The United States has notified Great Britain that a token payment on the war debts instalment due in June would be regarded as evidence of default, it was learned officially today.

Notification was given through the British ambassador at Washington, Sir Ronald Lindsay, by Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Sir Ronald informed his government of the United States decision in a lengthy cable received just before noon today.

Secretary Hull notified the envoy, he reported to the Foreign Office, that the Johnson bill makes it necessary for America to regard token payments by any nation as default.

Under the Johnson bill the United States has closed against all nations which default on their war debts.

The British Ambassador said no concrete settlement proposal had been offered Great Britain by President Roosevelt.

It was indicated Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon and Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald would study the situation in the light of Sir Ronald's message early next week.

Action on the notification over the week-end was considered improbable.

In Downing Street it was reiterated after receipt of the Ambassador's cable, that the British government is ready to negotiate for a settlement of the debt question, but that the first move must come from President Roosevelt.

Back Government
The British generally backed up Sir John today, in scoring the suggestion that because John Bull is jingling some extra coins in his jeans these days he should lay them down to pay war debts.

A widespread feeling was evident that the times are too "tough" to warrant payment of any kind—even a token payment—on the installment due the United States June 15.

The popular opinion today seemed to be that the surplus in the budget entirely concerns British citizens, because of the extraordinarily high taxes in this country.

IS UP TO DEBTORS
Washington, May 12 —(AP)—President Roosevelt definitely assumed the position today that the default move in the whose-in-default game is up to the European debtor nations.

Through diplomatic channels the President has informed Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium and Czechoslovakia that the United States is willing to at least discuss any individual suggestions for payments on or readjustment of their debts.

The debtor nations have learned from their envoys here, however, that the President is adamant against any general convocation of nations for wholesale revision of debts.

They have been informed also that the President cannot again definitely assure token-payers that they are not in default under the terms of the Johnson Act.

Seeks Settlement
Behind the strict interpretation given the Johnson Act—banning defaulters from this country's money markets—is the President's determination to arrive at an equitable settlement of the debt problem rather than a continuance of drop-in-the-bucket payments.

There is in official circles here a strong belief that most, at least, of the debtor nations have the resources to pay their debt installments if they so choose.

The President's view, it is said authoritatively, is that when individuals feel they cannot meet their obligations they go to their creditors and make a full and complete explanation

Camping is Barred in State Park at Pines this Summer

Camping will not be permitted this year at the Pines park according to an order issued by Robert Klingery of the Department of Public Works and Buildings. John C. Keegan, custodian of the park, has received orders to that effect. The orders were issued because a CCC camp is located at the state park again this summer and it is thought that if camping would be permitted in the park, the presence there of people planning for a stay of a few days would retard the progress of the program of the CCC. When the work is completed the park will again be opened to campers, and much better accommodations will be provided than during the past.

WOMAN'S NAME IS
"MOTHER"
By Dr. Daniel A. Poling (Minister of Marble Collegiate Church, New York and President, International Society of Christian Endeavor)

WOMAN, thy holiest name is Mother! Mother, not by the number of children you bear, but by the deepest instinct of your nature, by the master passion of your soul.

Mother is the name of woman, whether she bears and mothers her own children or mothers the children of another, or the waifs of a city or the refugees of a desolation.
Call her Intuition, for she has the sense of future events.

Call her Courage, for she is braver than the bravest of the brave.
The lonely path she takes into the primal darkness where no man has ever gone, but whence every man has come is a more fearsome adventure than the questioning of continents and the chatting of seas.

Call her Comfort, for even God could find no richer figure—"As one whom his mother comforteth, so I will comfort you."

Call her Sacrifice, for she gives her all, body, mind, and spirit; gives all gladly and weeping only that, having given all, she has nothing left to give.

Call her Patience, for in her this grace has its perfect work.
Call her Forgiveness. Aye, call her Forgiveness, and into forgiveness blend the colors, the fadeless
"the same yesterday, today and colors, of unchangeableness. She is forever." Heaven and Earth may pass away from you, but your mother will never move. She will be waiting for you when, hungry and naked, you come whimpering back. All others may condemn you for your sin, but she will piece together your broken life, call it beautiful, and with her naked hands lift your bleeding heart again to God and claim for you His healing.

And Faith—call her Faith at last and to the last—faith when all else fails and all others flee.
Intuition, courage, comfort, sacrifice, patience, forgiveness, and faith—these are the seven perfect parts of mother love, mother love, which, next to the love of Christ, is most sublime.

MOTHER—
When I see the loveliest beaming,
In two eyes of purest blue
Then I know that life's greatest blessing
Is a mother tender and true.

Though her brow is furrowed with age
And there's silver in her hair,
Yet the kindness in her face beaming Gives it youth and beauty rare.

'Tis the smiles of my dear mother
That have made my path so bright
And her deeds so kind and noble
Tell we always mother's right.

Mother's voice to me
So full of sympathy
Speaks comfort to my weary soul
She can cheer my heart
Bid all my fears depart
And she asks God to keep me whole.

Miss Mock and Mr. Sears
The artists, who were enthusiastically received, were most gracious in responding to encores. Mr. Sears gave as his first encore the well known number Toselli's "Serenade". Miss Mock responded to her first group with a French number "Chanson, de Marie Antoinette." Mr. Sears in response to his English group sang "Little Mother of Mine", by Burleigh, in honor of approaching Mother's Day. Miss Mock in response to applause following her English group sang "My Little House." Miss Mock and Mr.
Sears, as a final encore sang a duet
"You Are Free" from Fritz Kreis-ler's operetta "Apple Blossoms".

Especially outstanding were the operatic duets given by the artists, from "Carmen" and "Traviata".

their voices blending beautifully in these opera favorites.

Miss Mock has a beautiful, clear, musical tone, a voice of rare and lovely quality, and has a charming personality.

Mr. Sears showed a full and powerful voice in his heavier numbers and a sweet and sympathetic quality in the lighter selections. Miss Violet Martens is the ideal accompanist, impressing all with her vitality and perfect understanding.

The charming Ralston home was tastefully decorated with great branches of flowering shrubs and white tapers. The dining table was exquisite with crystal candelabra and white tapers and a crystal bowl of white carnations.

Dainty refreshments were served following the musicale and the guests lingered until a late hour meeting the guest artists and enjoying the delightful hospitality of the Ralston home.

Much credit is due Mrs. Ralston, chairman of the music committee of the Phidian Art Club for arranging the entire program and bringing the artists here, furnishing a splendid musical treat for the Phidians and their friends.

Chicago, Sterling, Grand Detour, and other cities were represented in the guest list, which included many music lovers. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wheeler, Mrs. Paul Dillon, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lawrence, Jr., of Sterling; John Nolt and Mr. and Mrs.
Holger Jensen of Grand Detour; and Mrs. Sears, wife of Charles Sears, one of the guest artists of the evening, were present.

This frock looks Parisian! It is difficult to put your finger on what gives that effect—but that is how it is with French clothes! Perhaps it's the way the bodice crosses and buttons. And again, maybe it's the long raglan shoulders which turn into short sleeves. "No," you say, "it's that clever arrangement at the front of the waistline." Maybe you are right! Anyhow, we are agreed that it is a smart frock.
And you don't have to hunt about for the proper print—it takes any nice design beautifully.

Pattern 9036 may be ordered

Is Comedy High Spot in "World's All Right" Tues.

The musical comedy "The World's All Right" which is being presented in the Dixon Theater on Tuesday, May 15, will feature as its comedy number the old time mountainers in a "hill billi" scene.
Neil Reagan as Si Perkins and Malcolm Brown as Hiram Yelch will play the leads in this number.

An old-time square dance will be done by O. W. Dodd and Orvil Gearhart as Maud and Susan, with Dave Palmer and Walter Trautman as Jess and Grandpap.
Clinton Critchsen and Robert Gallagher will furnish old time moun-tainer music for this feature.

The high spot of comedy in this scene is the pantomime of an old time melodrama, "Frankie and Johnnie." Louis Leydig will appear as Johnnie, the city slicker.
Sterling Schrock as Frankie, his sweetheart; Charlie Bush as Smokie Joe, and Frank Sproul as Nellie Blys, the village vamp; Malcolm Brown as Hiram, will sing the song while Neil Reagan as Si, will fill in with words. The scene is fast moving and full of laughter.

Other characters appearing in this scene as Hill Billies are Donald Bush, Howard Brown, Junior Gearhart, Russell Bush, Denton
Tennant and Ralph Gonneman.

This is only one of the feature numbers presented by James Ketchin, as Jimmy Waddell, owner and announcer of station WAR, when he puts on his big broadcast in the hopes of selling time on his station to Mr. Dinkle, the big pickle man, played by Vern Tennant, so that he can save his station and marry his secretary and sweetheart, Genevieve Dodd, as Jane Rogers. Other features are solo numbers, beautiful dancing choruses in costumes, a quartette, a vested choir, a stirring patriotic pageant and a song and dance hit featuring Paul Brookner and Lucy Bovey. An exciting plot and these delightful numbers will give the audience a real evening's entertainment.

of W. H. Flamm, will sing a short

WLS Show Amboy
Well Attended

A packed Opera House at Amboy greeted the WLS Barn Dance show on their second performance last evening. The cast responded to the many calls for encores and the entire evening was one of fun and merriment.

WLS station sponsors these programs believing that these great get-together meetings are conducive to a common ground of good fellowship between town and country folks. It also brings before their attention men and women of genuine ability, who, if they had a chance would become as good on the radio as many of the real stars themselves. Don't miss the last performance at the Opera House this evening. In the absence of Uncle Ezra at the first night's show Miss Weaver, Director from WLS proved her great ability by acting the role herself, much to the delight and amusement of the entire audience.

Surprise Miscel- laneous Shower

Miss Eleanor Powell on Thursday evening planned and carried out a most delightful surprise for her niece, Miss Leah Rees, who is to be married in June to Wallace Ely, both young folks residents of Dixon.

There were ten guests present at the miscellaneous shower and all had a very happy time, playing a number of new and delightful games planned by Miss Powell.
Later the delicious refreshments were served. Decorations of iris and lilies of the valley were lovely.

The shower of gifts were arranged in a parcel which had been in the family for a number of years, so there was something real "homey" about the presentation of lovely and useful articles presented with many good wishes to the bride-to-be.

SHORT-LIVED CONGRESS.

By reason of the Norris amendment to the constitution, the members of congress elected next November will take their seats in about two months instead of thirteen months. They will assemble in January, 1935.

When the seventy-third congress adjourns, it will have been in session a comparatively short time, if measured by the time spent in Washington by members of congress during the last twenty years.

President Roosevelt is disposed to hasten the congress in its work and to get it out of town about June 1. That will make about eight months of session work for this congress. Ordinarily the so-called long session has been continued that length of time. The short session had a fixed term, extending from the first Monday in December until March 4.

Under the Norris amendment there is no such short term with fixed destination. When congress convenes in January it may continue in session until the same date in the next January, if it wishes. There is no means of telling how long the session would continue this year if the President were not disposed to interfere. In even numbered years the general disposition of congressmen will be to get back home and look after political fences. In odd numbered years, if senators and others run true to form, they will talk and investigate and investigate without discovering any terminal facilities.

If the present session is terminated June 1, it will have lasted just 150 days. The special session of a year ago lasted 100 days. The total number of days for this congress will have been 250 days. The average length of the first or long session of congress has been 217 days, which is only a month less than both the sessions of this congress.

The longest single session of congress was that covering the greater part of the period of our participation in the World War. It convened Dec. 3, 1917, and continued in session until Nov. 21, 1918, a period of 354 days.

ANOTHER CASE BLOWS UP.

It may be that hereafter heads of the present Washington administration will give less heed to persons who pretend to have "something on" prior administrations. If there are real scandals, let's have them, but up to this time it has appeared that the administration might have put in better time watching its own corners.

Somebody told the President there was a case against former Postmaster General Brown and the carriers of air mail.

Now that's history.

Somebody told Attorney General Cummings that was a case against Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury under three presidents. Mellon urged the department of justice to quit talking about it and to go ahead with the case.

Now that's history.

Mr. Mellon declared that the proceedings were not in accord with treasury department practice in dealing with income tax deficiencies, and said that the purpose was to discredit administrations with which he was connected. He may have been right.

DRAMATIC APPEAL.

A 17-year-old girl was taken to a New York hospital suffering from a rare blood disease. Only a number of blood transfusions could save her life; she did not have the money to pay for them, and the hospital was operating on a limited budget to buy them for her.

So an appeal was made to the public, announcing that the girl must die unless volunteers came forward to give her their blood.

Within a few days more than 400 people went to the hospital and offered to submit to transfusions.

As a demonstration of the way in which human sympathy will respond to an appeal, this is a surprising and encouraging thing. But it also demonstrates the way in which human need must be dramatized if we are to relieve it.

There is a vast store of kindness and self-sacrifice in this world; the only trouble is that it usually takes a dramatic situation to tap it effectively.

I'm sure sorry for the women and children of Germany. They won't get a chance to see the world's greatest lover in action.—Max Baer, when his film was barred from Germany.

The period of emergency is over. Private enterprise is ready to go ahead.—Bertrand H. Snell, Republican floor lead in the House.

Behavior is no test of intoxication, nor is alcohol on the breath any evidence of intoxication.—Dr. Anton J. Carlson of Chicago University.

I have become a ghost. Recently children greeted me as Betty Boop. Betty is just one stroke removed from Mickey Mouse.—Helen Kane.

Once the only way a woman could command attention at all in Washington was as a wife.—Emily Newell Blair.

Living Our Everyday Lives

MEN AND MONEY
Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

"Look out the window and tell me what you see," said a famous Rabbi to a rich man who visited him.

"I see men and women and little children," said the miser.

"Now look into this mirror and tell me what you see," asked the Rabbi.

"I see myself," said the miser.

"Behold!" cried the Rabbi, "how money blinds the soul. The window there is glass, and the mirror here is glass. But the glass in the mirror is covered with silver and no sooner is the silver added than you cease to see others, and see only yourself."

The Bible is right; "Love of money is the root of all evil." If not all evil, certainly of most of it. Not money, but the love of it—lust is the word used. Slowly, imperceptibly, such an obsession shrivels our sympathies, and we are hard of heart before we know it. Money molds the mind to its own make and color.

A Swedish writer tells of a farmer whose thought took living shapes like tiny fairies swarming about his head—shapes like gold and silver coins, like stocks and bonds, like banks and barns, like grains of wheat and corn, like cows, horses and pigs.

They made a cloud about his mind, hiding the flowers, the landscape, the sunset. If he sat down to read the paper, those pesky fairies settled down upon the page like a hive of bees, and on! allowed him to read the market report and the prices of cows. They blurred his vision; he was a blind man groping in a world of beauty.

Only a fancy, to be sure; and yet it is a subtle fact. Only a rich soul can own much money and not be owned by it. Tiny fibers are woven into fetters, binding alike the poor who want money and the rich who have it, making slaves of both and paupers of all.

No wonder Jesus was afraid of money, as His parables show us. It does things to us. St. Francis in the Middle Ages and Gandhi in our own day turned away from it. They wanted to be free for the high, pure service of God and man, giving what money cannot buy!

Daily Health Talk

CHRONIC JOINT DISEASE

The diseases of the joints grouped under the heading of arthritis represent one of the largest personal and communal health problems in modern life.

We have no exact figures showing how many persons are crippled by chronic arthritis, but in a study made in Massachusetts, it was found that among 500,000 individuals afflicted with chronic disease, no fewer than 138,000 were suffering from chronic arthritis. Heart disease was responsible for only 84,000 of these cases and tuberculosis for no more than 16,000, presenting a startling contrast.

Chronic arthritis is also a disease of long duration. There is an old tradition that rheumatism prolongs life. Certainly arthritis, though significant as a cause of disability, does not rank very high as a cause of death.

To deal effectively with the problem of chronic arthritis, physicians, patients and medical institutions—hospitals, clinics, spas, etc.—must cooperate. And since the patient—the potential or actual arthritis sufferer—is the most important agent among these, it is essential that he should understand the problem of arthritis.

The diseases to which the joints are subject are numerous. Anything that causes tissue destruction, whether it be in the nature of a germ, a virus, or a physical agent, can of course affect the joints. But we see chronic arthritis in two wide-spread and common forms. One of these is the so-called rheumatoid or infectious type of arthritis. The other is the osteoarthritis or degenerative type. These two forms differ radically from each other as to cause, nature, duration and ultimate issue.

The line of treatment pursued depends upon which of these two forms of arthritis is dealt with. The infectious type calls for energetic treatment, for it is only by such measures that the condition may be arrested and serious and crippling damage evaded.

AMUSEMENTS

ERLANGER THEATER—CHICAGO

Notwithstanding the continued success of Dennis King in "Richard of Bordeaux" at the Erlanger Theater, Chicago, contracts already made, make it obligatory that the engagement must terminate on Saturday evening the 19th thus giving only two more weeks to enjoy this delightful play of compelling interest, superb acting and colorful decoration.

Never in his entire career has Dennis King given a more scholarly, vigorous and artistic performance than he does as the impressionistic and temperamental King Richard II of England a character that runs the entire gamut of histrionic endeavor—from the effeminate and youthful Richard of Bordeaux to the cold, cynical and resentful Richard II of England a veritable kaleidoscope of dynamic force and artistic understanding.

So much has already been written and so much eulogistic commendation expressed about this play and star, that it seems superfluous to dwell at length upon the excellence of the presentation; suffice to add that "Richard of Bordeaux" has been unanimously acclaimed "The Best Play of the Current Year" and Dennis King's characterization, a gem of worth in conception, treatment and execution.

The supporting company has been especially complimented upon for the magnificent manner in which each member depicts the character entrusted to her or his artistic care; and the scenic investment and accessories are absolutely correct in design, texture and coloring.

Don't miss these farewell performances of the popular and gifted Dennis King in his greatest dramatic success.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the traditions of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ.—Colossians 2:8.

HISTORY OF WATER SUPPLY

THE FOUNTAIN OF VERSAILLES

In 1682, Louis XIV took up his residence in the beautiful palace of Versailles and put his architects and engineers to work improving the gardens and grounds. Part of this vast undertaking was the building of the marvelous fountains. These still play on occasion, adding splendor and charm to this lovely old world spot. Millions of dollars were spent and many lives sacrificed to provide a water supply for these fountains—that the Grand Monarch might find his gardens pleasing.

Today we are not so much concerned with fountains but we are vitally interested in public water supplies. This company has spent great sums of money in purification works, pumping stations and a distribution system to insure the people of this city a pure, wholesome and cheap supply of water for their various uses.

IF BANK DEPOSITORS

Did the Lending

There is a great deal of newspaper criticism of bankers today for not lending more freely—money which belongs largely to their depositors.

Suppose the banker should say to his depositors, "I am tired of being criticized. You decide for yourselves to whom your money shall be loaned—how much of it, and for how long!"

Would the depositors be more liberal—or would they be even more cautious than good bankers are today?

Every banker wants all the good, safe loans he can get—but he will not accept any which do not measure up to his standards of safety. Protection of his depositors' interests comes first, always.

Mother, Daughter Killed
A tragic motor car accident of much interest to the people of this community occurred near Corona, Calif., Monday afternoon, April 23rd when two former residents of this vicinity were killed in an auto accident. They were Mrs. Charles Ling, formerly Alice By of Light-house, and her daughter, Mrs. Evangeline Ling Parr. Both victims were taken to the Corona hospital where Mrs. Ling passed away almost immediately and Mrs. Parr two days later, on April 25th. A double funeral was held on April 27th.

Mrs. Ling was a twin-sister of Mrs. R. N. Johnson of this place, and was a sister of the late Mrs. Floyd Thompson of Lighthouse and was well known here as was her daughter who will be remembered as a very popular young lady. Mrs. Ling's parents were Isaac and Rebecca Daily By of Lighthouse who passed away several years ago. She and her late husband were residents of "Hoosier Street" Taylor township, Ogle county, and in Oregon and Dixon before going to Santa Monica, Calif. Mrs. Ling is survived by two sons, Leonard R. Ling of Fallbrook, Calif., and Carl Ling of Freeport, Ill., and her sister Mrs. Johnson, and a large circle of relatives in this town and community.

Mrs. Parr was a graduate of the high school at Ashton and had been active in the Venice Calif. Woman's Club and the American Legion Auxiliary. She leaves her husband who is a state inspector of markets, and local American Legion officer. This shocking accident was caused by a rear tire blow-out on a new car, while Mrs. Ling and Mrs. Parr were returning from a visit to Leonard R. Ling who is struggling to recover from a severe case of arthritis at Fallbrook. Carl Ling rushed west from Freeport by airplane to Burbank, Calif. He was met at Burbank and arrived at the hospital in Corona before his sister departed this life. Much sympathy is being extended to Mrs. Johnson by friends here. She is the last surviving member of the Isaac By family.

Brotherhood Church Notes
For next Sunday morning some of our young people are preparing a story and song service for Mother's Day—"Only Six Letters." The most cherished memories, intimate relationships and character-building influences cluster around the thought of mother. They say that man is mighty. He governs land and sea. He wields a mighty scepter. Over lesser powers that be. But a mightier power and stronger Man from his throne has hurled: For the hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world."

The Y. P. D. will give a play at Mt. Morris church Sunday night. The play is entitled "The Lost Church."

8:15—Preaching. Welcome.

Obituary
Frank Centerville Hill, son of Homer and Elizabeth Hill, was born in Manitowish, Wis., Sept. 18, 1876 and died at the home of Dr. W. L. Moore on May 6, 1934 at the age of 57 years, 7 months and 18 days.

A heart ailment contracted during the Spanish-American War was the cause of his death. He had received treatment in a number of government hospitals during the last five years but finding no relief he returned to Franklin Grove where he made his home with his sister, Mrs. Anna Roe. Despite medical skill, faithful care and nursing that loving hands could provide, his strong constitution and will to live were of no avail.

The deceased was the youngest of eight children and was reared and received such education as was provided by the public schools in his native state. He received his degree in civil engineering from Leland Stanford University and pursued his profession in the oil fields of the south and west. He was a volunteer in Company 12, Second Regiment, Illinois Infantry, during the Spanish-American War and was a member of Fred U. Rix Camp at Hot Springs, Ark.; of Franklin Grove lodge, No. 264, A. F. & A. M., the Louisiana Consistory No. 2, and the Shreveport Shrine.

He leaves to mourn his passing two sisters, Mrs. Anna Roe of Franklin Grove, and Mrs. Adeline Rockwood of Milwaukee, Wis.; one brother, Thomas Hill of Mancelona, Mich., and fifteen nieces and three nephews.

The services were held at the Hill's funeral home with burial in the local cemetery. Rev. Charles D. Wilson of the Methodist church officiated. Miss Margaret Banker rendered two beautiful funeral solos. Altenberg post, No. 467, American Legion, accorded him full military honors.

The casket-bearers were Major A. T. Tourtellott, Ed May, Matt

Those attending the funeral from a distance were: Mrs. S. C.

When 2,000,000 Turned Out to Hear Hitler

The stupendous spectacle of 2,000,000 people gathered in one place was afforded in Berlin's great Tempelhof aerodrome on May Day when Chancellor Hitler, by means of 122 loud speakers, told the vast assemblage of Nazi aims and policies. It generally is credited with being one of the greatest single throngs in history.

"Home, Sweet Home" is a good old song, but most folks keep on singing it for years, and yet remain in the same old place with all its inconveniences, just by force of habit.

You may not be able to put an air-conditioning system in your home for several years though we will wager that all good homes will have it within a decade; but you can

EXTRA INNING GAMES FEATURE FRIDAY'S PLAY

Five of the Eight Major League Games Were Overtime Events

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The greatest array of extra-inning games the major leagues have produced this season today had the fans wondering whether competition had suddenly become keener or whether the strong clubs only had experienced a temporary let-down.

Of yesterday's eight contests, five with ten or more innings and the greatest of these was that which saw the New York Yankees, American League leaders, beat out the last-place Chicago White Sox 7 to 6 in 14 innings.

The pale horse, playing like a new team, came back after the Yankees had built up a 5-0 lead, drove Harry Swythe to cover and tied the score with four tallies in the eighth. They finally went down after Whit Wyatt, relief workhorse, had hurled five hitless innings when Earl Combs clouted a triple and Sam Byrd singled him in.

Cleveland moved into second place again with an eleven inning triumph over the Boston Red Sox, 6 to 5, after the Sox had blown a 4-1 lead in the eighth.

Detroit's Tigers won the league's only nine-inning encounter, a 10-5 triumph over Philadelphia although the A's scored five times in a fifth-inning rally topped by Jimmie Fox's sixth homer. This left the A's tied for third place with the Senators, who yielded in the tenth to the St. Louis Browns 5-4.

In National League
The National League's two extra-inning encounters helped close up the standing when Pittsburgh and St. Louis, both in hot pursuit of the league leading Cubs, each won out in the tenth. Gus Suhr's homer behind a walk to Arky Vaughan gave the Pirates a 6 to 4 decision over the Phillies, while the Cardinals nosed out the Giants, 3-2 when Jack Rothrock singled with the bases loaded.

The Cubs, meanwhile, took their worst licking of the season from the Brooklyn Dodgers, despite a triple play in the first inning. The final count was 13 to 1 as the Dodgers finished with seven runs off Pat Malone in the eighth. As a result Chicago remained only half a game and two percentage points in front of the Pirates, who were in a virtual tie with St. Louis. The fourth National League contest saw Boston's Braves trounce Cincinnati 8 to 5.

DONNA of the BIG TOP

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DONNA SIDDAAL, who call themselves "The Gabriel Sisters," are circus performers. Years earlier Madeline ran away from her grandfather's home.

When Donna is injured in a fall from the trapeze Madeline arranges for her to be taken to GRANDFATHER SIDDAAL'S farm. To please her partner Donna pretends to be Madeline. She falls in love with BILL SIDDAAL, Madeline's cousin, and though she is ashamed of deceiving Bill and Grandfather she is afraid to tell them the truth.

Meanwhile Madeline marries CON DAVID, animal trainer with the circus. He tells her he is going to put her in his animal act and the day after their wedding to spite her he protests. In a fit she must enter the lion cage.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XV

CON produced a pair of leather trousers, leather leggings and a heavily padded leather jacket from one of his trunks. He gave them to Madeline and told her to put them on.

"Tuck your hair under this cap," he added. "There's never been a woman in the cage with old Sander and Leo and I don't know what their reaction will be, so we'll take no chances."

He did not wait to hear what Madeline might say, but strode off to give some instructions. The great, gilded cage that housed three African lions was pulled into the arena and small steps, mounting to the door, were placed beside it.

While Madeline dressed, cold perspiration poured from her body. She felt so physically ill that she wondered if she could walk from the dressing room to the "big top," let alone enter the lion cage.

Con met her halfway across the arena and smiled approval at her. "There's not a thing to be afraid of," he said.

She managed a wan smile and tried to walk steadily beside him, but her courage did not increase when she realized he was going into the cage unarmed and that none of the men who usually stood close at hand with a revolver, in case a beast should become refractory, was present.

"Stand by," Con said, "and when I call, come in the door."

He picked up a chair, mounted the stairs, turned the key in the lock, opened the door a trifle and slid his body through, slamming the door tightly after him.

Waves of nausea swept over Madeline. Hundreds of times she had watched him do this thing. Hundreds of times she had seen him stroke the head and beard of the great shaggy beast, Sander, and the danger of it had not occurred to her. Now, with her limbs like lead, her hands clammy, her head swimming, all she could think of was Donna's warning: "The cats always get them sometime."

THAT Sander purred like a kitten and seemed to love the touch of Con's hand meant nothing. He would be sure to hate her! He would sense her fear. Oh God, she couldn't do it!

Con turned, beckoned to her and unlocked the cage door.

"Come on," he said. "Quick."

Where I had the opportunity to notice many leading golf experts, I noticed all of them hit their iron shots firmly. It seemed to me this firmness was the keynote to success with irons.

Inquiring as to how firmness was attained I was told that a firm grip with the left hand was essential, and that the left arm must be kept straight.

With a firm grip and a straight left arm, there seldom is danger of having the club wobble, and it will be possible to hit the ball a firm and true blow.

CUYLER LEADING LEAGUE HITTERS

Former Increased His Mark: Cub Star Came
Long Way in Week

New York, May 12—(AP)—Carl Reynolds, the Boston Red Sox's ace, and husky Joe Vismik of Cleveland stood out today as models of hitting consistency as they retained the first two places in the American and major league batting records through another week.

While only eleven of the 20 listed in the "first tens" of the two leagues a week ago remained in the lists after yesterday's games, Reynolds boosted his top-heavy hitting mark even higher while Vismik cut his losses to a minimum and wound up tied with Kiki Cuyler, new National League leader, for second place all around.

Reynolds cracked out 15 hits in 29 times at bat and finished with an average of .464, a gain of twenty-eight points. Vismik lost 24 points while Cuyler gained around 1000 to attain the same average of .411. Sam Leslie of Brooklyn took second in the National League at .410.

Reynolds was the only major leaguer to show an outstanding all-around record in long distance, clouting. His 39 hits were high for both leagues and his 26 runs batted in tied him with Lou Gehrig for a similar position. In addition he had five triples, high for the American League, and nine doubles, which left him trailing only his teammate, Bill Werber, who had ten.

Records of the leading ten batters in each major league follow:

CUMMINGS WILL OPPOSE REWARD FOR DEAD THUGS

Wants Change In Bill Reading "Dead or Alive" for "Enemies"

Washington, May 12 —(AP)—Attorney General Cummings likes the idea of offering federal rewards for notorious "public enemies," but he wants the "dead or alive" postscript from the "dead or alive" postscript.

The Justice Department chief, after conferring at the Capitol on the bill passed by the House last week to offer rewards for the capture of men designated by him, dead or alive, has been notified a change would be sought in the Senate.

The Latman bill authorized $25,000 on the heads of the Dillingers and "Pretty Boy" Floyd, provided those designated as a "public enemy" had previously been convicted of a felony. Another $25,000 would go for information leading to convictions.

The Attorney General put his foot down on paying for dead fugitives. Rep. Oliver (D. N. Y.) a member of the Judiciary committee, also is set against rewards for dead men—he called it to Cummings' attention, in fact.

Killing Framed For Rewards
Overly ambitious helpers of justice were charged with having inveigled unsuspecting strangers to a "party," later luring them in front of a bank, shooting them down, throwing guns under the bodies, reporting an attempted bank robbery and claiming the reward.

The newest printed silks for summer were presented at a style show held at New York's Central Park Casino. The history of silk—from silk worm to finished fabric—inspired the printed motifs.

In the photograph above, center, Miss Marian Stehlik, noted designer, drapes yards and yards of fabric about the model's figure to form a daytime dress. The printed material, an all-over design in a silk worm pattern—is of white dots on a dark background.

SURVEY SHOWS HEAVY BUYING OVER THE U. S.

Retail and Wholesale Volume Rose With the Temperature

New York, May 12 —(AP)—The volume of retail and wholesale buying rose this week with the temperature, said the Dun & Bradstreet weekly trade review.

The agency reported that along with the "sudden spurt" in retail distribution, the rate of industrial operations reached new high ground for the year in several divisions.

"The sudden revival of activity" it continued, "following the languishing pace of April, has brought fresh evidence that the weather has been the major retardative factor to progress during the last few weeks."

Stock Reserve, Down
"The accelerated pace at which merchandise now is passing into consumers' hands has removed the fears of a few weeks ago that inventory losses would be suffered, as stocks of the slowest selling items already have been lowered to such an extent that disposal of the balance will not be difficult as the peak of the spring buying movement is not expected to be reached before the latter part of May."

"The long-awaited arrival of warm weather brought the heaviest volume of buying that most retailers have experienced in more than a year. Following the poor showing made on the comparative days of April, the gains have been pronounced, ranging from 10 to 25 per cent over last week's figures, except in districts where the threat of prolonged drought has caused an abrupt cessation in demand."
